FIRST YEAR REPS

blair allaby

I am running for a lst year postion in the R.A. for two minor reasons. First I am concerned about student government on the UVic compus in general. Second I feel an independant candidate is needed, as it is rumoured that there are three major groups running for the R.A. These three groups are either pro Kirk Patterson, Pro John Abbot, or (get this one) the Martlet. The following are my views of what the R.A. should do for the following year. My views will be listed pro or con.

Pro 1. sub expansion 2 more A.M.S. funds for a foreign exchange programe. 3 more noon hour concerts by student musicians in the sub. 4 more speakers on the compus that are good, but inexpensive. 5 encouraging more clubs on campus.

Conl. any raise in student activity fees in the near future. 2 Any form of tax on books, of which we now pay. 3 The Martlet running candidates, in any student election. My views will be further expressed during the speaches. David Bassett

The students have the right - and it is more than a right, it is a duty - to chose the representatives to the student assembly. It is also their right to choose people who stand for a pressure group of a fleeting moment, if they so desire. It is indeed their right to choose representatives who will leave the seats empty. It is a choice between participation and action, and words then nothing. I stand not for a group. I stand for no slate. I am not running for prestige, as prestige is most certainly not one of the benefits of the position. I stand for what is good for me as a student who couldn't get into residence because of a wating list based on a priority system, which is good,...that is until you find how that system actually works. I stand for the people who put in their thiry-two dollars and because of age or interests obtain not one iota of a return. I stand for the people who want an education rather than a vocation. Words without sincerity in the lecture halls ring hollow in my ears. I stand for unity and pride in our establishment... the AMS . An establishment which is now semi-autonomous and which, I fervently hope, will soom become totally autonomous. The good old campus days of the forties and fifties are gone. They died along with college elitism in the drama of the sixties. Now we have little left. It is our duty to take what is left and make the rest of the seventies into a monument of student activity. I stand above all for the establishment of that momument. I am Edward R. Heal for the position of lst year assembly representative. Edward Heal

In running for the Representative Assembly I have attempted to think up a decent platform. I couldn't. As this is the case I will support motherhood.

By saying this I'm not necessarily saying "Mother drunk or sober, country right or wrong", but am without any rehashing supporting what everyone else has supported.

Seriously now that isn't as bad as it sounds. I will attempt to be open-minded, pragmatic and above all else attempt to work hard at the job. I will seriously consider what priorities should be without guidance from some biased sources. I refrain from mentioning specific ideas not as I am afraid to let my views show but because I have not served before and don't know the facts on all the issues. I am however one of those individuals in support of S.U.B. expansion. Please give me your support.

Being a first year Arts and Science student living in residence, I want to be one of your first year representatives. I am interested in the students of this University. I am interested in hearing what you have to say. I want students to have some effect in their own government. That's why I'm asking you to vote for me. Students coming to me with their comments on A.M.S. affairs will be listened to. Your suggestions will be acted upon. I will help make committees that I serve, effective.

I am interested in you. I want to be one of your first year reps. Elect me.

It would not be good policy on my part to say why I am running, but I am not a politician.

"Not a politician and you're trying to get onto the RA? You must be crazy!!"

No. I am not crazy - it has been with the utmost of sanity that I have noted that the politicians mind often does not go beyond the council chamber (or bullring if you prefer). One-upmanship is a fine art, but when done under the guise of 'democracy', it completely ignores the interests of those it is supposed to serve.

The present direction of the RA is circular. We can either tear the circle apart and scatter the pieces upon the water, or try to straighten it out. But we can't just let it chase after itself until it turns into butter.

Nihilist? Anarchist? Radical? I don't attach labels to myself, but if nothing else, I am not a politician.

It is my belief that student government should be more than a passive organization concerning itself with trifles while the more important facets of rule are carried out by the university administration. As the executive now stands, the radical Abbott party has control of two of the cheque-signing positions, while the more conservative Patterson is president. Somewhere between the two camps an area of compromise must be found if the assembly is to have any strength or meaning to the students.

I feel that, by the judicious use of the vote given to me if elected, I can help bring the council together. A ballot cast for me as a Second year rep. is a vote for a unifying force in the assembly.

I am running for the R.A. because I have a deep interest in how the A.M.S. is run. I feel that in the past year, the administration has not been especially effective. As bitching will get me no where I've decided to take an active part in running the A.M.S., making it more responsive to students' needs. I want to make sure that all the students have a greater voice in their own affairs. For example, I believe that a student referendum on the matter of SUB expansion would be invaluable in deciding whether we really want to invest so much money. However, to judge from recent R.A. meetings, it seems that this will not come about. Seeing as there is little one can do to slow or cut-down on SUB expansion, I will try to see that we get the most for the rest of our money.

I feel that I would be able to do a good job in representing the students. My feelings from the many meetings I have attended, are that students with more interest in what they're doing should become involved with our student government. It is our money and our society which is being mismanaged and I want to make the most out of it for us. I ask for your support.

I am interested in running for the position of Second Year representative of the Alma Mater Society's Representative Assembly vecause I am intensely interested inthe workings of R.A. politics. Following is an outline on some of the matters I am intersested in sothat you, the voter, can judge as to whether your interest and mine coincide. Please understand that the following comments are not "campaign promises.., but an indication of my general interests and a sample of some of the topics I would be most conserned with. In the area of academics, I am interested in students being given some official voice in ohthe decisions made regarding the granting of tenure. The Coalition on University Reform has put out an interesting paper on the subject of student representation in the university decision making proces.. In the activites sphere, I am concerned that the bookkeeping expenses continue to be subsidized by the AMS. I think this is a valid contribution by the AMS towards helping a parent pursue and education.

Regarding SUB expansion -- I believe students couls use all the extra space that has been proposed by the Requirement Study. If elected to the RA, I will try to represent the students' interests to the best of my ability. Evey attempt will be made on my part, to be as fair as possible in any matter discussed by the RA. In closing, I ask only that you vote according to the dictates of your conscience, and for the individual whom you feel best represents your interests.

A major issue in the Executive election was SUB Expansion. It cannot be judged on a "pro" or "con" basis because all of the major candidates favoured Expansion in one form or another. I support full SUB Expansion, now. It is inevitable, but even one year from now, construction costs will have increased significantly.

Changes that will give all students more input into the A.M.S. are necessary. I have devoted much of my time, working for constitutional change. However, these efforts accomplished little due to lack of interest or support. I believe that students should be well-informed, through other sources in addition to the Martlet, about issues and activities which affect the A.M.S. That's our job, after all, it's your $32.00.

I am Mark Shaw...hoping for your support for 2nd year rep. in the upcoming R.A. election.

The past year has seen success for the A.M.S. in many fields. One must ask, though, whether this was by chance or by choice. Given the choice between members of the "old guard" and members of "new guard", I'm not sure I can give you an honest answer. I've tried to remain independant.

One of the most successful areas has been the Martlet. While I've disagreed with specific issues and editorials, I feel the present editor and staff have lived up to their promise to make the Martlet more representative of general student opinion. This year's Martlet will be the first Martlet to ever make a profit. But now this is all in danger. The R.A.'s recent amendments to the Publication Constitution give it a majority on the Publications committee, total control of the process for selecting the new editor, and creates the danger of

A third year representative is one vote in the Assembly, a potential member of countless committees. I am willing to contribute towards building a strong university community. I believe that the major activity of the university is learning, and much of the representative assembly's effort must be focussed on the learning process. Students must have contact, and representation, on the department leve. A readable guidebook (anti-calendar) should be issued, to aid new students, or those unfamiliar with certain departments, in choosing courses and professors. Third year students, familiar with the university's organization and services, are in a good position to communicate this knowlege to other members of the university. It is our responsibility to constructively criticize the present structure, and participate in groups such as the Coalition of University Reform. I am willing to take part in student government to further these ends, and to express the ideas of other students as well as my own. I am a woman, and I am sensitive to other women's interests and problems within the university: daycare facilities, part-time student programs, and employment practises. Above all, I want to maintain, and help create, lines of communication between students and student government: well-publicized functions, AMS representatives at residence floor meetings, frequent bulletins, and open ears.

Although I'm in third year, it's my first at UVic. I went to Vancouver City College for two years and have the benifit of that experience, as well as five months here. In supporting an attempt to revive a student radio it was discovered we had everything in our favour--support, approval, funds, and even a licence but there was no space! This is only one reason I am in favour of SUB expansion. SUB expansion is a must--if we are to progress. I would like to help it come about but without hiking our student fees or incurring a long term debt. In the present structure of Unversity Goverance, we students are at the bottom. Without us there wouldn't be a University. We are the students and we should have a louder voice in all the affairs that concern us. Unlike other universities we have no real student power.

In attending the last RA meeting I gained an insight in to the procedure for solving the current problems. They can be overcome by sensible policies. I would like a chance at representing the student's will. Give me that chance and I will add my fresh ideas to the stagnant air around us.

THIRD YEAR REPS (half term)

david climenhaga

I am running for a half-year term on the AMS Representative Assembly, along with several other concerned individuals, out of a sense of frustration at the lack of leadership and responsibility the RA has shown towards the students it represents.

It's about time the student government at UVic opts for an approach which will represent the interests of UVic's students instead of the interests of the group of sand-box politicians now in control.

I stand, simply, on myrecord of achievement at UVic. I have served on the RA, the executive, as interim Publications Director responsible (in the absence of the elected Pubs Director) for the Martlet, the student directory and all other publications. I have also served a one-year term as student senator and lastly, this year, as Martlet editor.

During my tenure as editor I believe I have shown what could be done with the resources available in the publications field at UVic. With the help of an extremely competent staff, we have succeeded in turning the Martlet into a respected and responsible newspaper from a childish and irresponsible rag. Anyone who has read the Martlet this year and in past years will be able to judge this statement.

I believe a similar responsible approach can bring a level of maturity and effectiveness to student government here.

I stand for:

- SUB expansion
- Repeal of the ill-thought-out and undemocratic "amendments" to the publications constitution recently passed by the RA.
- better student representation on administration-level committees and especially Senate.
- Extensive constitutional amendments to the AMS to make student government more workable and representative.
- a more positive and active approach by the student council towards student rights and student problems.
- Better liason between student organizations and faculty and administration.

jim horne

The upcoming R.A. elections will decide the fate of many ongoing issues and programs, and it is thus important that as many concerned students as possible get out to vote.

When you do go out to vote I hope you will give me serious consideration when contemplating who would best serve your interests on the Representative Assembly. I have been deeply involved in student affairs on this campus for most of the time I have spent here. In addition to serving as Vice-President for the past term I have acted as Chairman of the Bookings Committee and the Committee on Committees, as well as representing the AMS on numerous University Committees. I am interested in continuing some of the programs I have initiated during my tenure on council and for these reasons I ask for your vote on the nineteenth of February. Thank you.
